Painting

RU
FA

The main language of mankind.

We will teach you how to paint both drawing on tradition and mastering the techniques of the present. You will create your own art, future and career in one single project.

In a world like ours, where images build social relations between people and media and between man and society, learning to create images means learning to be in the world. From the tangible and lasting image to the dematerialised and ephemeral, from that destined for galleries and collectors to that for businesses and the market, which increasingly seek images created by artists. Everything tells us that images are the universal language of humanity.
